

HUGH NESBITT WAS SAVED IN DISASTER BY STAUNCH FRIEND

School Pal and Fraternity Brother of Hugh Nesbitt, Jr., holds his hand full for help—Nesbitt might have expired.

The following telegram from Washington tells of the remarkable heroism of a friend in saving Hugh Nesbitt, grandson of Mrs. T. Y. Nesbitt, of East Second street, from the Knickerbocker theater disaster at Washington last Saturday evening:

Washington, Jan. 30. — Tales of heroism in the Knickerbocker theater tragedy were abundant today, but few matched that told of Eddie Nicklas, 16-year-old high school boy.

Eddie had every opportunity to get out of the theater in a hurry, but stayed behind to rescue Hugh Nesbitt, a fraternity brother and son of Hugh B. Nesbitt for many years connected with the Kansas City Star's Washington bureau.

"I went to the theater alone and took a seat in the balcony," Nesbitt said. "A few moments later I saw Nicklas and motioned to him and he took a seat beside me. When the awful crash came, Eddie was not pinned down but I was covered with debris. Eddie did not leave. He remained to locate me. I heard him calling my name. I raised my hand through what appeared to be a hole and he grasped it and shouted:

"Is this you, Nesbitt?" He could not see my face, only my hand. When he found that it was my hand he held it and shouted for help. He stayed there hanging to my hand for fifteen or twenty minutes before help came. A fireman came with an axo and released me. The fireman thought I was dead. I heard him say so as he lifted me.

"The scenes about us were horrible. I heard a woman shriek and cry. 'Save my mother!' I thought of my own mother. I had asked her to accompany me to the Knickerbocker. She would have gone had not the storm prevented. Then something must have struck me, for I do not remember anything else that happened in the theater."

Nesbitt was carried to a home nearby and several hours later was taken to his own home. His clothes were ripped into shreds as if cut with a knife. He suffered today from bruise and sprained wrist, but was none the worse otherwise for his awful experience. If his companion had not stuck by him, Nesbitt probably would have perished.

BROWN COUNTEY COMMITTS SUICIDE

Harry Stewart Found Dead in Georgetown Home With Rope About Neck.

Georgetown, Ohio, Feb. 3. — Surmising that probably he was indisposed, Captain Jack Pearce went to this room upon the third floor of the Pearce building, on the east side of the public square, yesterday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock, to awaken Harry Stewart, who had taken lodging the night before. Upon opening the door he discovered Stewart in a crunched position in the corner, a small rope fastened about his neck.

Captain Pearce immediately gave notification of his discovery, and when Coroner Holland made investigation he found that life was extinct, there being no way of telling just how long before the deed had been committed.

A few weeks since Mrs. Stewart died at the family home on west State street, and the husband went to make his home with a family named Laypool at Ilkingsport. Tuesday they came to Georgetown, upon the way here the auto went out of commission, and about 9 o'clock that night, Mrs. Anna Foe says that Stewart applied for lodging. She asked him how he was getting along, and was assured that the Laypool family was treating him fine and that he never enjoyed life more. Coroner Holland found Stewart's hat upon the bed, his overcoat upon the floor, and in the pocket was more rope, which indicated that he had designs even stating that he was enjoying his new location. In the pockets were something like three dollars in change and a few gum drops. He had occupied the bed.

S. S. LEADERS OF COUNTY MAKE PLANS FOR WORK

Mason County Sunday School Association Executive Committee Holds Interesting Meeting.

The executive committee of the Mason County Sunday School Association with several of the pastors and superintendents of the city held a very interesting and profitable meeting with the state secretary Dr. Geo. A. Joplin at the Third Street M. E. church Wednesday evening. Several of the county association's officers are new at the work and this meeting with the state secretary had been looked forward to as a time when all would be enlightened as to the best plans to make the Sunday schools bigger and better. Dr. Joplin went into the plans and work of the association very thoroughly, answering all questions as to the duties of each officer, and giving words of encouragement to all. The secretary stated that with the splendid progress made by Mason county in recent years that attention of the state is being directed our way. With a good effort put forward Mason county can be in the front rank as a 100 per cent. county. Dr. Joplin commended the publishing of the attendance by Mayville's papers each week. Other counties are taking up this plan with profit to the schools.

Some of the things definitely decided upon by the meeting were:

The observance of "Father and Son Week" February 12-18, by as many churches and schools as possible.

A booster banquet similar to the one given last March. A committee on arrangement was appointed. The banquet will be given some Saturday afternoon during March. The pastor, superintendent and a leading worker from each school in the county will be invited and expected to attend.

A visitation day will be held during April. Every school in the county will be visited by a live Sunday school speaker on that day.

District organization will be put on foot and plans for a district convention in each district on the same Sunday. The booster banquet, visitation day, and the district convention will all lead up to go-to-Sunday-school day by which time Mason county will be asked to secure the enrollment of at least two thousand additional members over last year's report.

The apportionment of $250.00 for the state work, the same as last year, was accepted by the committee. To this amount will be the budget for local work. This will all be worked out by the next meeting and each school of the city and county asked to give a definite amount instead of asking schools to give all their go-to-Sunday-school-day offering.

The date for the county convention was set for June 6th and 7th. Heretofore the convention was confined to one day. This year an evening session will be held on the first day, most probably in Mayville, then on the next day the real convention will be held at some point in the county. Sunday schools that would like to have the county convention meet with them should communicate their invitation to either the county secretary, Mrs. J. H. Wells, or the president, J. H. Richardson. After receiving invitations the county committee will decide upon the best locality for this year's convention.

The county organization stands ready to help in every way possible the schools of the county. Any questions about any phase of the work will be gladly taken up and help given wherever possible. Telephone your desires or questions to the secretary, phone 319; or the president, phone 217, and prompt attention will be given.

FORMER BRACKEN MAN SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR LIFE

W. B. Hardy Will Spend Life in Pen for Participation in Raid on Alcohol Truck.

On Wednesday afternoon in Cincinnati, William Bryan Hardy pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary by Judge Fred Hoffman.

At Valley Junction, near Lawrenceburg, Ind., on August 8, last, a truck loaded with alcohol, driven by Mathias Schuler, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., was held up by nine men. Schuler attempted to escape from the truck and was shot as he ran, dying a few days later in a Cincinnati hospital.

Four men were arrested a short time after the hold-up, and one of them, D. W. Clark, former Hamilton, Ohio, policeman, stood trial; he was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment. The other three men under arrest at that time pleaded guilty and were also given life terms.

Young Hardy made his escape at that time, and was not apprehended until about three weeks ago when he was placed in custody at Irvin, Ky and when his case was called for trial he followed the example of his three companions by entering a plea of guilty to the charge.

We have been unable to learn as to whether or not the other four men implicated in the robbery have been arrested or what disposition was made of their cases.

Young Hardy is about 25 years old a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hardy, formerly of near Augusta, who moved to Newport about fifteen years ago. He was better known here as Bryan Hardy.

Here is the case of a boy of honest parentage going to the city, associating with people of the wrong caliber, resulting in his being implicated in crime that will cost him his freedom as long as he lives, provided he is not pardoned.

MR. G. K. WINTER DIED SUDDENLY AT MINERVA TODAY

Prominent Mason County Man Died While Sitting in Chair at Doctor's Office—Had Been in Usual Good Health.

Mr. G. K. Winter, prominent resident of Minerva, better known as "Gid" Winter, died while sitting in the office of Dr. S. E. Pollitt, his brother-in-law, at Minerva, at about 8:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Mr. Winter was in his usual good health and was in Mayville on Wednesday attending to business. At an early hour Friday morning he arose and after attending to his work about home, walked to the home of Mr. Frank Boyd. After spending some time at the Boyd home where he appeared to be in good health, he walked to the office of Dr. Pollitt and was talking to Dr. Pollitt and Mr. Thornt King about the tobacco pool. Mr. King noticed that Mr. Winter's eyes had clouded and his head had drooped. He called Dr. Pollitt's attention to this and when the physician reached his brother-in-law he was dead. Apoplexy is supposed to have caused his death.

Mr. Winter was 65 years of age and had been a breeder of fine horses for years. His animals have taken many ribbons at all fairs in this section. He was never married and lived with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lula Winter and her daughter.

Mr. M. O. Winter, Third street grocer, is a nephew of the deceased.

TROOPS AND TANKS ON DUTY AT NEWPORT

Governor Orders Additional Troops to Newport After Wild Night.

Twelve detachments of Kentucky state guardsmen—about 350 soldiers—were under orders Friday to move into Newport to control a situation which culminated Thursday night in the most serious rioting that has taken place around the Newport Rolling Mills.

After a night of indiscriminate shooting, which forced some residents to flee from the neighborhood in their night clothes, this climax came early Friday.

A private in the Covington Tank Corps was wounded by a "sniper."

A squad of police going on duty was met by a hail of machine gun fire from one of the tanks.

Since troops on guard at the mill for five weeks were removed by orders of Governor Edwin P. Morrow last Saturday this situation, he was informed, has grown steadily worse around the mill, where workers have been on strike for months. Each night was marked by fighting and the days by isolated attacks laid to strike sympathizers. Police and deputy sheriffs were unable to control the situation.

Thursday night, as a result of private advice to the governor that trouble more serious than any that had gone before was to be expected in consequence of reports that troops were to be returned, the Covington Tank Corps, commanded by Captain L. V. Crockett, moved unexpectedly into the mill zone with five tanks equipped with machine guns and one-pound rapid fire guns.

Mr. B. C. Grigsby, of Tolesboro, was in Mayville Thursday.

RADIO STATION IS WORKING PERFECTLY AT GAS BUILDING

Radio Equipment Just Installed in Mayville Works Perfectly and Entertainments Given in Distant Cities Are Heard.

The Westinghouse Radio Receiving station just installed at the Mayville Gas Company's building at Second and Court streets was put into working order for the first time Thursday evening. The wonderful little piece of machinery worked to perfection and those who were fortunate enough to be on hand when the first experiments were made, were enabled to hear voices carried on air waves from several distant cities.

The Public Ledger man had the great pleasure and wild experience of listening to the great vocalist John McCormack who was singing in New York City. Musical programs, readings, lectures, etc., rendered at sending stations in Pittsburgh, Chicago and other cities were also heard during the evening. The music and conversations over the wireless telephone are just as distinct as they are on a phonograph and no outside noises interfere with the enjoyment.

The possibilities of this radio system are limitless. It is almost unbelievable that one may sit in Mayville and enjoy a musical program or lecture given in another city hundred of miles distant by wireless but it has been realized.

The Arms Conference at Washington is expected to adjourn Saturday.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

THE TRIPOD

"The broker is the ally of the canner," said a speaker at the annual canners' convention at Louisville, recently. And the canner is the ally of the tin manufacturer for he consumes his products, and of the farmer, because he purchases his vegetables and fruit for canning. And the tin manufacturer is the ally of the farmer because he employs many thousands of workers who cannot consume farm products without an American standard of wages. And the farmer is the ally of every non-food-producer, because he feeds him, and that is a job which would be turned over to foreign countries under free trade—free trade means fallow fields, permanently fallow.

There was no tin plate industry in this country before William McKinley made it possible by adequate protection. No sooner was the war over than the farmers began to feel the effects of the Underwood law in domestic competition, and the emergency tariff act was put through. Brokers find no opportunity to function constructively when the country is in the throes of an industrial depression. Banks may lend, but they cannot collect, and at length they refuse to lend, and when a bank neither lends nor collects it is no longer a bank, it is a mausoleum. Farmers may reap harvests, but it they cannot reap profits, the ystap planting and the fields become choked with tares. Tin manufacturers will not continue making tin if there are no canners to purchase their output, and a smokeless stack points the way too ruin. There was that old expression "we eat what we can and what we can't, we can," but we can't eat what the canners can without the coin and so the canner quits.

Thus we have the perfect triangle — farm, factory, and finance. Or it might be called the tripod on which rests the nation's security. Break one leg and the whole thing falls. Legislate for one at the expense of the others and the favored one soon finds itself off solid ground. The whole is equal to the sum of all its parts. Let one part be missing and you have a hole, and through that hole will sneak disaster. This country is overwhelmingly against the idea of soviet government. Yet the term "soviet" is used especially in describing that form of government "in which the unit of industrial organization becomes the nucleus of political organization." We can not have bankers' "bloes," labor "bloes," industrial "bloes" on agricultural "bloes" and long endure. We must all pitch in and work for the common welfare. We must all be members of the national "bloes," or all "bloes," like children's blocks, will be scattered in confusion. It happened in Russia, one of the richest countries in natural resources the world has ever seen.

"Whatever may be the provincial ideas of some few of the people of either section, the great mass of thinking persons know that their interests are concurrent," declared Chairman McCumber of the Senate Finance Committee, recently. "We are one country and one people. The vitalizing blood of commerce must flow with equal freedom through the whole body politic. It is impossible that one side of it should be vital and the other side anemic at the same time." Let us take courage from that statement and, in the words of Tennyson, "for some true result of good all parties work together."

BUT HE VOTED FOR THEM

Representative Claude Kitchin, leader of the Democratic side of the House of Representatives, recently gave out a public statement in which he denied that he had ever advocated free raw materials. Let us look at the Democratic tariff law of 1913, which Mr. Kitchin helped to frame, and note some of the commodities that Mr. Kitchin helped put on the free list: wheat, corn, potatoes, copper, wool. These are only a few of the commodities but they are of immense importance to American producers. In the case of many other commodities the Democratic tariff law reduced the duty to such an extent as to remove the protective effect. It is undoubtedly true that in no case did Mr. Kitchin help place on the free list any raw material produced in the South, but the few articles enumerated above as sufficient answer to Mr. Kitchin's declaration "neither by speech nor writing have I ever advocated the so called doctrine of free raw material. Nor can any one point to a single utterance I have ever made or a single word I have ever written showing that I favored or advocated such a doctrine as a part of the creed or principles or policies of the Democratic party."

Mr. Kitchin is probably figuring that he can support the statement just above quoted by saying that he stands for a tariff for revenue only. There is a vast difference, however, between a tariff for revenue only and a tariff for protective purposes. It is needless, however, to go into a discussion of the difference between the two classes of tariffs. The fact of the matter is, that the section of the country from which Mr. Kitchin hails has turned to protection. It wants protection, not only on manufactured goods but on raw materials. Mr. Kitchin would seek to evade responsibility for the record he has made in the past, but he will find it impossible to support his denial in view of the list of commodities above mentioned which Mr. Kitchin helped to put on the free list.

THE REFUND JOB

The refunding of allied indebtedness is to include not only the cash advances made by the United States Treasury to foreign governments, but also the credit sales of surplus army and navy supplies, the demand obligations held by the American Relief Administration, and the arrears of interest on all those debts. Every form of indebtedness now owed the United States by foreign countries will be gathered together and put in the form of definite bonds that will specify the rate of interest, the interest dates, and the date of final payment. They will be of such denominations that they will find a ready sale in the world's securities markets if Congress should later adopt the policy of disposing of a part or all of them to get cash for any purpose. The whole transaction will be the most important fiscal operation ever undertaken by the Treasury. It is fortunate for the people that a man with the financial experience and ability of Secretary Mellon will be chairman of the refunding commission.

THE VET RELIEF FUND

Congress will pass a bonus bill, but whether it does or not we should remember that the Government is paying out $450,000,000 a year for soldiers' relief in various forms. It is the biggest item in the budget, with the exception of interest on the national debt.

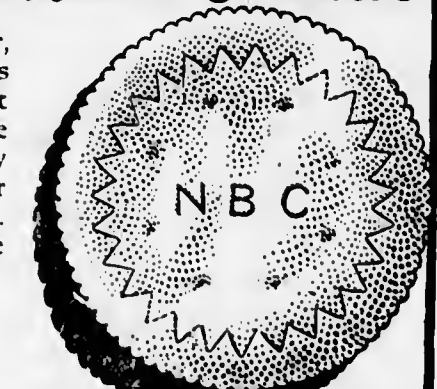

With Soup

After you've eaten them with the soup they're so good you will go right on eating them with all the other courses. They're big enough to take your favorite spread of butter, or jam, or jelly, yet not too big.

Flake Butter Crackers

are round, tender, flaky crackers with a slight salty tang. Serve them at every meal. Ask for them by name. Sold by the pound.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. — Calling his attention to Democratic statistics and records, the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., says of William Jennings Bryan's latest speech:

"While directly paying compliments to the intelligence of the American farmer Mr. William Jennings Bryan indirectly intimates that they have short memories and small powers of reasoning. In an interview in Washington a few days ago he said:

"The prospects of the Democrats capturing Congress next November are better than in many years. The reaction against the Republican party is founded upon the condition of the farmers, who represent one-third of the voters of the country. They are worse off now than in years, and are blaming the party in power for their condition."

"Now if Mr. Bryan will turn to the annual number of the New York Annualist, published by the New York 'Times,' an independent Democratic paper and noted for its reliable statistical information, he will find that the slump in the wholesale prices of food commodities began early in June 1920. That was within a few weeks after the Democratic administration had adopted its new deflation program as shown by the annual report issued by Democratic officialdom. Early in June, 1920, the index number indicating the relative wholesale prices of food commodities stood at 329. By the middle of February, 1921, before the Republican administration had come into power, the average of wholesale prices was indicated by the index number 185. This was a drop of 144 points in a period of about 7 months. During the period from the middle of February, 1921, to the end of December, 1921, the drop in the index figure was from 185 to 160, a drop of 25 points, in ten months.

"These are figures from a Democratic source and compiled in accordance with a plan which the 'Times' adopted many years ago. The figures were not compiled for political but for industrial purposes.

"Furthermore, the official records will show that Democratic policies adopted during the war were such as to limit the amount of profits a farmer could make, whereas there was no limit placed upon the profits that could be made by any other industry.

After having thus limited the profits of the farmer and at the same time adopting policies which increased the rates of wages the farmer must pay for his help and prices he must pay for the commodities he must buy, the Democratic administration adopted a policy which made the farmer the first sufferer from the deflation plan which it adopted. The farmer was hit by the Democratic administration in both its inflation and its deflation programs.

"In addition to this, Mr. Bryan will find in the report of the Federal Reserve Board for 1920, then under Democratic control, the information that in that year farmers were borrowing from the banks more heavily than ever before and were not only putting up their agricultural security as collateral for loans, but, this not being sufficient, were putting up their liberty bonds as well. That was many months before the Republican administration was elected.

"At this is a matter of record and it has been known to the farmers both North and South East and West—the grain growers, the cattle men, the cotton producers, and the wood growers—at all stages of the proceedings.

"Mr. Bryan is not at all complimentary to the intelligence of these agricultural producers when he asserts that they hold the Republican party responsible for the plight in which they find themselves."

Madge Bellamy, pretty and talented, has been selected for the title role in Maurice Tourneur's picture of "Lorna Doone" for First National. Frank Keenan will have the part of "Sir Ensor Doone," and John Bowler that of "John Ridd" the stalwart hero of the novel.

PROPOSE FEDERAL LICENSE TO HUNT MIGRATORY BIRDS.

Passage of the New-Anthony bill to provide for Federal licenses to hunt migratory birds and for the establishment of game refuges and public shooting grounds for such birds would affect about 5,000,000 American sportsmen, the Bureau of Biological Survey, United States Department of Agriculture, estimates. The bill has been favorably reported by the senate committee on public lands and surveys. In the House the bill is in the committee on agriculture.

The bill provides that each hunter of migratory birds shall obtain a federal license, at a cost of $1 for the season, the licenses to be issued at any postoffice in the United States. Out of 10 proceeds not less than 45 per cent. is to be spent by the Government, through a proposed Migratory Bird Refuge Commission, in buying or renting land suitable for the establishment of migratory game bird refuges which would serve as breeding and feeding places for birds during the period of their flight north, or the close season, and as public shooting grounds during the open season. An additional 45 per cent. will be used for the enforcement of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act and the Lacey Act and the remaining ten per cent. for expenses in issuing licenses and other administrative expenses.

The bill provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall be chairman of the Attorney General, the Postmaster General, and two members of each House of Congress. Rules and regulations governing the administration of the proposed refuges would be placed in the hands of the Secretary of Agriculture. The proposed measure does not in any way obviate the necessity of procuring a state hunting license.

THE HIGHER THE LOWER

Sam J. Ryan, well known comedian, who is playing the part of a "ham-and-bones" prize fight promoter in the H. C. Wittmer "Leather Pushers" stories for Universal, between scenes was talking to Harry Pollard, the director, and Reginald Denny, the star of the stories.

"I was going to New York from Pittsburg recently," said Sam, "and went into the Pullman without a ticket, and asked for a berth."

"Upper or lower?" the conductor asked me.

"What's the difference?" I said. "Well, you see," he explained, "the lower is higher than the upper and the higher price is for the lower. If you want the lower you will have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. In other words, the lower is higher than the upper. Most people don't like the upper, so it is lower on account of it being higher. When you occupy an upper you have to get up to go to bed and get down when you get up. You can have the lower if you pay higher. The upper is lower than the lower because it is higher, but if you are willing to go higher, it will be lower. Which will you have?"

"I decided," said Sam, "to sit up all night and see if I could figure it out."

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York.—We begin to feel something like the inhabitants of a beleaguered city. At least we shall if these external signs keep on reflecting on our security. The latest jar to our insistence that after all we are quite civilized and that life, limb and soul are quite as safe here as in any other part of this territorially broad country, is the testimony of the baggage delivery people. A hearing was held the other day before the Public Service commission of the city to find out why we had to pay so much to have our trunks and other belongings carried through our streets. And why do you suppose it is? Because of the dangers according to the job! Dangers of highwaymen and all sorts of things. It costs just 210 per cent, the baggage people say, of what it costs in our docile neighboring city of Philadelphia to operate a baggage delivery truck here. Just because we have to have extra men along to protect our baggage. In Philadelphia, they can leave loaded trucks right in the streets all alone and they are still loaded when the driver returns. But not here! It is humiliating, undoubtedly, and yet we'll wager that New Yorkers will somehow think the joke is on Philadelphia instead of us, so determined are we to like our "livelihood."

The latest plan to relieve the congestion of motors and pedestrians on Fifth avenue is the double-decked sidewalk. Our sidewalks on the avenue, in the shopping district, are fifteen feet wide. The suggestion is made that they be cut to ten feet, so giving ten feet more of street space, and that a second sidewalk be built above them

"Pomander Walk" has not been spoiled. To those of us who remember that distinctive, quaintly delightful play of a few years ago, this is a decided relief. The news that a favorite play is to be made into a musical comedy always gives a little chill of dread. But "Marjolaine," the opera in which all the charm as well as the story of the play has been retained, is a joy. Peggy Wood in the leading role pretty well insured that, of course, but still it was good to discover that the music by Dr. Hugo Felix and the verse by Bryan Hooker had quite lived up to our fondest hopes and never interfered with the mood of the original play—only made it more lovely.

Are we on a rebound toward the more picturesque and elaborate days of femininity? Some fashion symptoms would indicate it. For instance, ostrich feathers—not the crisp, straight ones of the last few seasons, but flowing ones all curled as they used to be; slide draperies on gowns; diamond earrings; and long tight sleeves. Probably before long, veils will be all that they were in past days, draped and long, and already flowers are in again. It begins to look as though the freedom of clothes was passing for the hampered sex.

cold damages! Yet here is Rehe Davis, motion picture actress who is having difficulties with her suit against a motorist who she says ran into her, all because a patrolman testified that when he picked her up after the accident she was minus shoes and stockings. Miss Davis, who is a sister of the better known, Marion Davies, was out playing Santa Claus Christmas eve and she says that a temporary attack of blindness caused her to lose control of her own car. She is suing for $500,000, because a bus ran into her machine. She declares that she was entirely shod and stockinged at the time as it was a cold winter evening, but anyway, it doesn't seem as though one's costume should prejudice the law, does it?

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT YOUR EYES.

Thousands can see the same object at the same time. That seems nothing extraordinary, yet really it is a miracle! It is only possible because in the wonderful scheme of things an object throws off from its surface millions of rays in all directions. Each person, according to his position, catches literally, on one of these rays, and travels along it, ocularly, to the object.

The eye is pained by a sudden light. Why? It is because the nerves of the eye are hardened with rays before the pupils have had time to contract and receive them.

Again, if we leave a well-lighted room and go into the street, everything seems much darker than it actually is. That is because the eye pupils, contracted indoors, have not had time to dilate and catch the lesser rays outside. "Getting used to the dark" is merely waiting for the pupils to dilate.

Cats, owls, and others see in the dark because they have the power of enlarging at will the pupils of their eyes, and thus collect all the scattered rays of light there are, which are present even in "darkness."

Do we know why we can see ourselves in a mirror? It is not because the mirror is a mirror, but because the rays of light from our face, striking against the glass, and unable to pass through it because of the "baking," are thrown back again to our eyes. They rebound, in short.

Finally, with two eyes we apparently ought to see double, and we do! But the two images fall on the two retinae simultaneously, and are combined in one. There's more in the eye than the nose would think.

FARMERS SHOULD RAISE MORE GOOD UTILITY HORSES

Federal Authorities State That Horses Are More Economical on Farms Than Motorized Tractors or Trucks—An Infusion of Thoroughbred Blood Gives Spirit, Vigor And Endurance To All Breeds

There is now a recognized "horse zone" where short hauls and frequent stops are necessary in both city and country into which the truck and tractor cannot enter and compete with the horse without loss to the merchant and the farmer. After a costly experiment the horse is coming into his own, displacing the motorized truck and tractor, particularly on the farm, where it has been conclusively demonstrated that there is economy in breeding a suitable type of horse for a varied agricultural service.

At a recent meeting in Chicago of the Horse Association of America, H. C. Taylor, Chief of the Federal Bureau of Farm Markets, presented some interesting figures, the result of official investigations, proving that horses are more economical in every field of operation on farms than the motorized tractor or truck.

Computed on 1921 feed prices, the cost of power per acre, according to the U. S. Department findings, is $1.37 for plowing with horses as compared with $1.72 with tractors; disking, 34c with horses and 55c with tractors; disking in combination, 32c with horses as against 59c with tractors; harrowing 18c with horses as against 30c with tractors; drawing hay loader, 52c with horses and 91c with tractors; and drawing grain blower, 31c with horses, 55c with tractors.

The value of mechanical motive power is clearly recognized by the Horse Association of America, but after a thorough nationwide inquiry, it has been shown that the enforced displacement of the horse in farm work has been expensive to the farmer and has increased the cost of living to every family in America.

The various State Agricultural Colleges, particularly in the central west, are stressing the point that horses should be bred for the definite qualities which stand the test of long hard service, an infusion of thoroughbred blood giving spirit, vigor and endurance to the colder breeds.

George Lane, head of a $1,000,000 live-stock ranch in Canada, in a recent letter to Wayne Dinsmore, Secretary of the Horse Association of America, said: "I have crossed Thoroughbred sires on broncho mares; on high grade Clydesdale mares; on mares sired by Percheron stallions out of broncho dams; on mares that were 3/4 or 1/2 Percheron; and whenever I had a pure bred Percheron mare that would not settle to a Percheron sire, I bred her to a thoroughbred sire, and usually got such mares in foal, the result being a crossbred thoroughbred Percheron. We have bred the female produce resulting from these various crosses to both thoroughbred and Percheron sires, so that we have horses carrying various degrees of thoroughbred blood—from 1/4 to 3/4 bred from mares of various types and blood strains. From long experience in the use of such horses, and our actual breeding operations, I know that the thoroughbred cross on any draft mare increases quality, endurance, and length of life."

The manufacture of mechanical motive power already has caused an enormous drain upon our available labor resources, so that every time a farmer, or business man, buys a mechanical power unit which he does not absolutely need, he is simply helping up the labor market against himself. Nor can the market for coarse grains be left out of consideration. The displacement of horses occurring in the years 1910 to 1920, destroyed an annual market for over 113 million bushels of oats, 70 million bushels of corn and 4 1/2 million tons of hay—more than the average total export per year on these items. The curtailment of city demand cuts off not only the outlet for surplus farm horses, but this great market for staple farm products.

WHY ARE SOME WOMEN POPULAR

Happy, beloved and successful, while others drag out a negative existence, of no use to themselves or anyone else? Except in a few cases the answer to it is found in a state of freedom from the troubles known as "female." The well woman radiates cheerfulness and serenity, while the ailing one repels because of her lack of these qualities. It is not necessary, however, to harbor aches and pains, and the "blues" that make one a detriment to society. The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought relief to such women, and given them a new lease on life.

IDEAL CHURCH DISCUSSED.

The subject of Dr. Harmon's sermon Thursday evening was the study of an ideal biblical church, based upon the characteristics brought out in the first letter to the Thessalonians. This was the first epistle written by Paul to the churches he had established and the tone of the book is brotherly and affectionate, without a suggestion of rebuke or harshness, due to the high standard of the church itself since its members endeavored continually to keep themselves worthy in the sight of God. Dr. Harmon made very edifying comments upon the admonitions given to its members and urged that those present measure their own church thereby.

DOG CENSUS OF CITY TO BE TAKEN; TAXES TO BE PAID

Council Takes Some Action to Collect Money — Opinions Accepted That Mayor May Collect $1500 Annual Salary.

City Council held a rather busy session Thursday evening and steps were taken to bring some money into the city treasury through the collection of dog taxes and the collection of all other taxes past due.

The question of Mayor Samuel's salary was brought before council when Councilman Davis asked to be excused from voting on the Claims and Accounts which included Mayor Samuel's monthly salary on the $1500 per year basis. Mr. Davis called attention to the recent publication of an opinion of Attorney General Dawson to the effect that Mayor Samuel was not entitled to collect but $1,000 salary. City Attorney Cole gave an opinion that the ordinance fixing the salary at $1500 was perfectly valid and cited many decisions of the Court of Appeals. An opinion of the law firm of Worthington, Browning & Reed to this effect was also read.

During the discussion of Mayor Samuel's salary he surrendered the chair to Vice Mayor Dodson but later resumed the gavel.

An ordinance providing for the semi-monthly payment of employees and officials was received.

The Sidewalk committee was authorized to purchase and have placed danger signs at all school and hospital districts; at the limestone bridge and a one-way street sign on Court street.

Councilman Breeze suggested that the city dog tax be collected and council instructed the police to take a dog census and permit the various dog owners ten days in which to pay their license. At the expiration of the ten days owners not paying their license tax will be haled into police court. In this connection Vice Mayor Dodson suggested that the City Attorney prepare a list of all delinquent taxes now due the city and notify the delinquents giving them thirty days to make payment. Upon failure to pay in thirty days, the City Attorney was instructed to institute suit.

An ordinance repealing those sections of the city traffic ordinance which have been declared in conflict with the state laws was ordered prepared.

Vice Mayor Dodson suggested that the Laws and Ordinance committee draft new laws plainly outlining the duties of the Treasurer, Clerk and Tax Collector in consultation with these officers and that upon completion of the new ordinances the Treasurer and Clerk resign and be re-elected under the new ordinances, thus removing all differences and misunderstanding between these officers.

FIRST BALLOT FAILS OF ELECTION.
